■ HISTORY OF THE CREATOR AND ITS ARCHIVES

Creator's history

At the very beginnings, the European Green Coordination.

The Green movement as an electoral force is relatively young. Indeed, the first ecological and alternative political groups emerged in late 1960's, but most of European Greens parties were founded a decade later or more. After the 1st European election in June 1979, Greens felt the need to exchange points of view and to collaborate at European level. It took some years to set up some organization. The European Green Coordination was founded in June 1983. The 1st Congress held in Liège, Belgium, from 31 March to 1st April 1984, gathered Greens of Benelux, UK, France, Germany, Sweden and Switzerland. It was the time of the very setting up a European Coordination of Green Parties.

The way of working of the European Green Coordination was based on Congresses. After Liège in 1984, others Congresses were held in Dover (France) in March 1985, in Stockholm (Sweden) in August 1987, in Antwerp (Belgium) in April 1988, in Paris (France) in April 1989 and in Zurich (Switzerland) in July 1991.

Since November 1985, the EGC had a statute and, according to it, a co-secretariat consisting of 4 or 5 members. (For more, see the chapter dedicated to the Co-Secretariat or "Co-Sec")

But, as membership grew, new issues, ideas and initiatives emerged in rapid succession. It became evident that an informal structure would not be up to the task, however competent individuals were running the Co-Secretariat. Moreover, events in Europe of historical magnitude had proven that there was a need for a Green argument on matters of European level; be it on democratization of the European Union, or peaceful transition to post-Communist era in Central and Eastern Europe, or ethnic conflict in Bosnia. Ten years after its foundation, the EGC was turned into the European Green Federation. The Co-Secretariat was replaced by the Committee and the meeting by the Council.

The European Federation of Green Parties, founded in June 1993 in Majvik, Finland.

The EFGP was a European political party, as defined in Article 138A in Maastricht Treaty. The Federation represented its member parties on European level. The member parties, however, maintained their autonomy on the regional and national levels.

A year after its foundation, the Federation has 28 member parties in all corners of the continent: "from Cork to Tbilissi, from Lisbon to Nordkapp". At the EFGP first times, Green parties in Europe were: Die Grünen (Austria), Ecolo (Belgium), Agalev (Belgium), Zelena Partija Bulgaria (Bulgaria), De Gronne (Denmark), Eesti Roheline Liikumine (Estonia), Vihreä Liitto (Finland), Les Verts (France), Georgian Greens (Georgia), Bündnis 90/ Die Grünen (Germany), Politiki Oikologia (Greece), Zöld Alternativa (Hungary), Comhaontas Glas (Ireland), Federazione dei Verdi (Italy), GLEI and GAP (Luxembourg), Alternattiva Demokratika (Malta), De Groenen

(The Netherlands), GroenLinks (The Netherlands), Miljöpartiet de Gronne (Norway), Os Verdes (Portugal), Los Verdes (Spain), Partija Zelenija (Russia), Miljöpartiet de Gröna (Sweden), Grüne/Les Verts (Switzerland), Partija Zelenij Ukraini (Ukraine), Green Party and Scottish Green Party (United Kingdom).

The seat of the Federation was Vienna. The Information Office was already situated in Brussels. It had been imperative from the very beginning that the European Federation of Green parties should exceed the boundaries of the European Union and, indeed, Western Europe. Unlike in most comparable political structures, Eastern European parties had always had their due weight in the Federation, and not only decision-making, but also forming the organization and formulating its policy priorities. Two adjunct projects were associated to the Federation. The Standing Committee on EU affairs, established in January 1994, was in charge of political communication between the member parties and the Green Group in European Parliament. The Green East-West Dialogue project was commissioned to activate contacts between Eastern and Western member parties as well as to report to the Federation regularly on the events and processes in Central and Eastern Europe. In the same way, other networks were set up between various areas, as Mediterranean network or Baltic Sea network working together on specific issues.

Progressively, the EFGP organization showed also some defaults and various people wanted to improve the efficiency of the Federation. The process of statutes change in the perspective of the EFGP decision on establishing a new international non-profit organisation (INPO/AISBL) in Belgium began at The Hague Council Meeting held in Spring 2001 in the Netherlands. The process ended with the foundation of the European Green Party in Rome on 22 February 2004 at the 4th Congress of the European Federation of Green Parties (EFGP) attended by over 1000 delegates. Thirty-four Green parties from all over Europe had joined this new pan-European party. The Greens were the first to form a political party at European level. The other European political federations followed suit in the period 2004-2006. For the Greens this was the culmination of a process which had started with the formation of a loose coordination 1979-1993 and the EFGP 1993-2004.

Archives' history

Since the beginning of the European Greens Coordination, archives have been kept at the headquarters of the association in Brussels. Coordination became Federation in 1994; archives piled and began to make a "story". In 1995, interested in the study of this political movement at European level and at the level of different countries, hoping to write on this subject, Professor Richardson of the University of Teesside in Wales and English ecologist proposed to the EFGP to file its archives to his Department. They would be there treated well and kept in good condition. First unwilling to let its patrimony going away, Federation eventually agreed to Professor Richardson request and let him taking most of the archives of the Coordination ten first years up there in Wales. Unhappily, this one died in the nineties before having found enough time and money to care about those archives, which ones stayed at Teesside University, untreated till a few years. Now, it seems that they are being scanned and that the University does not hope to give them back to the EGP.

Archives created after this moving and particularly since the Federation foundation are gradually added to the few ones left behind because of their current usefulness. At the end of 2009-beginning of 2010, European Green Party, intending to make some work in the way to expand their office space, archives should be moved...

Etopia archives center, specialized in ecological archives conservation, especially political ecology, proposed at this occasion EGP to take charge of the processing and conservation of this precious heritage. This proposal had been accepted well by Party's officials who liked the idea of keeping the whole archive in Belgium, not too far from Brussels.

In April 2010, Utopia transferred all old or at least unused archives to Namur where they will be conserved. Archivist in charge of this operation wrote then a summary guide permitting both to find a file quickly if necessary, to inform the gift or deposit agreement and also to make the processing easier.

EGP archives processing began at autumn 2013. It took more than six months to file the archive, to describe and organize the archival material and to write this finding aid.

The work done highlight the interest of the archive and, consequently, the interest of gathering the whole archive kept nowadays both at Teesside University and at Etopia archives centre in Namur. EGP Secretary-General has already approached Teesside University in the way to obtain European Coordination archives restitution but there is still no positive answer. If this gathering would ever becoming reality, a new finding aid should ideally be realized...

▪ SIGNIFICANCE AND CONTENT

Significance

Globally, these archives are of interest primarily for the study of ecological movements and Green parties in most of European and non-European countries.

From the early eighties to 2009 but especially between 1989-1990 - five years before the Coordination became Federation- and 2005, which correspond to the transformation of the European Federation of Greens Parties into a European Party.

This archive gives access to EGP history in different ways. Consulting those archives gives to researcher opportunity to:

- discover this organization, its structures, its members;
- relate the main steps of the party building, from first efforts made to coordinate Greens actions in the European Parliament to the establishing of the European Federation of Greens parties in 1994 and ten years after to the transformation of this Federation into a European Party and the first steps on this one;
- approach principal ecologist campaigns topics at European scale;
- approach some of specific matters of Europe history. Discovering Greens action or reactions in the Balkan conflict for example; studying Greens parties or Federation statements on the EU enlargement afterward; and finally considering the Greens positions over the European project, sometimes divergent, especially when revisions of the European Constitution.
- consider likewise the history of Greens relations with other European Green parties and with Green parties or Green organizations everywhere in the world.

Content

"Party profiles" give already descriptive and some stories of Federation Members Parties. But there are also, besides these small syntheses regularly updated, series of documents about these parties' first steps. Thus applications for Federation or Party membership include mails with Secretariat, letters of application and support letters sent by neighboring Green parties. So application files themselves, in which ones you can find, next to statutes or political programmes, history of the Green movement in the country since its first steps. In cases of countries of Eastern Europe, for example, many files were presented after the fall of the Berlin Wall and the collapse of the USSR in which ones Green parties explained enormous environmental problems they had to face. In the case of some European countries, you can find that several Green parties were competing and possibly opposed to the input of another party in the Federation (e.g. Spain or Denmark). Files about relationship with Green movements or parties from all continents also provide a first lighting on the Green history in the world.

Series of Congresses or Council's Meetings files are very precious to find out how Coordination then Federation and Green Party have been build and managed, how often ecologists have met and which subjects have been most important for them. These very complete series could already allow relating the European Green Party story, its structures, its modes of operation, its specific atmospheres, as well warm and passionate than stormy, its difficulties and its happy times and, naturally, his favorite topics, recurring themes or driven by events.

Obviously, studying the Greens point of view on various problems to solve at the countries level, at European level or at the world scale can also be made through electoral campaigns topics and through thematic groups formed inside the organization: GMOs, Climate change, Security and Foreign policy, economics, WTO, Fiscal policy and Euro, Enlargement... and through regional networks.

Files on electoral campaigns led synergistically on European scale bring also a new lighting on political action. It is something new on European political area. Next classical papers, the researcher will also be pleased to discover the variety of promotional material edited by the EFGP or EGP or by national Green parties: pins, flags, pencils, posters, stickers, T-shirts, boxes, seeds... Posters collection particularly illustrates well their originality. Comprised of national Greens campaigns in different European countries, common campaign on European scale, Council Meetings or Congresses, topical posters of Greens in Europa or everywhere in the world, it offers a large view on ecological fights.

Afterward the numerous publications of the Federation or the Green Party allow to study in detail their favorite topics and their mode of communication.

At least, with these archives, it is possible to find out what part did European Green parties and Federation play at global level: support at Green Global Network start after The Earth Summit in Rio in June 1992 for instance, support at Euro-African Green Conferences, organization of P7 Summit for the poorest countries of the world, etc. Each letter, each booklet sent to the Federation or Party during the past two or three decades also illustrates the role played by it globally.

Principles of selection and elimination

First rule was to keep every original and everything, sometimes in multiple copies if interesting documents. Everything but some doubles and some documents about practical organization of meetings, conferences or congresses. For instance, in Congresses and Council Meetings, we did not keep regularly supporting documents, flight booking and hotel, meals reservation, visa applications nor ballots during the election of Committee members, Secretary-General or treasurers, etc. Such documents was retained only as samples and as examples in order to show the extent of the organization of these meetings and sometimes difficult to bring people from countries outside the EU.

About posters and other promotional materials, we kept every item in 3 copies or in 5 if very interesting and uncommon. Knowing theses items could be asked for exhibition or digitalization, we have preferred retaining them in more than one copy.

Conservation rules

All binders, plastic folders and cardboard folders have been replaced by antacids shirts. Only initial shirts have been retained if they wore interesting information. To ensure better conservation, we also linked documents by a fastening system, antacid too. All metal and most plastic parts have also been removed.

Classification structure

This inventory includes six parts. The first one, physically the most important, is dedicated to archival folders: it consists of 762 items on various importance and takes around 100 pages of this finding aid. Parts 2 to 6 concerns special supports: objects, posters, postcards and photos, audiovisual documents and finally documents on digital media whom have been presented separately, precisely on account of their physical specificity. Those supports actually needed special descriptions and material conservations. However, as often as possible, they have been filed and presented following the same classification that archival folders.

The classification adopted in this fonds comes from its genuine organisation which one we have globally respected.

1st Part: Archival folders Inventory.

Chapter on European Green Coordination archives comes first. They concern the very beginnings of the actual European Green Party. The most important part of the archives of this period have been taken in England (as we wrote it before) and there is here the few left (only 15 folders), about Coordination meetings and Co-Secretary overall.

Chapter on EFGP and EGP periods follows. It consists of folders about foundation and party evolution, about Party bodies (Congress, Council, Committee or Treasurers meetings), about Members, no-Members Parties and Observers, and about General-Secretary.

It is the most important one; it consist of all archives folders produced or received by the EFGP and the EGP essentially. Those one have been kept together as they have been found on the spot and overall as they have been filed by the EGP after EFGP General Secretary members over time. We thought at first separate the two periods but it appeared to be a nonsense because to do that we should have separate sets of records very well organised, what would have been in complete contradiction with basic principles of archival.

Follows then a chapter dedicated to EFGP the EGP collaboration with the Green Group in the European Parliament (GGEP). After folders concerning formalization of the collaboration between the Federation or the Party with the Green Group, there are series of folders specifically about various forms of this collaboration: regional networks working groups and topical working groups, thematic campaigns and European Green Conferences.

The chapter on Elections comes next. They have been European elections every five years since 1989 and Greens have written common Green Manifesto, realized common Green campaigns, common advertising campaigns every five years equally.

The chapter on international relations follows, with folders on international meetings, conferences or seminars, with numerous folders about relations with Green Parties all around the world and information about.

A special chapter is dedicated to European Green publications. It contains first EFGP and EGP publications, then GGEP publications, special publications edited by numerous European Green Parties, special publications edited by Green Parties from all around the world and sent to the EFGP or EGP.

A chapter on financial management and accounting comes eventually. It contains also interesting folders about the financing of European Party by the European Parliament.

2nd Part: Inventory Objects.

One chapter presents various and numerous objects made for European Green Promotion; most of them have been classified by country.

Another one presents all the Elections and topical campaigns promotional material

3th Part: Inventory Posters.

After some generalities, there is a chapter on EFGP and EGP Congresses and Council Meetings, another one about EFGP and EGP collaboration with the Green Group in the European Parliament, another about Green campaigns then a big one presenting poster edited by a lot of European Green Parties;

4th Part: Inventory of Postcards and photos.

5th Parts: Inventory of Audiovisual documents.

The essential chapter concerns records of numerous Council Meetings and Congresses. and 6th Parts: List of documents on digital media.

▪ FINDING AID

There was no finding aid at all for those archives.

▪ ACCESSIBILITY

Access conditions

The records described in this inventory are available at the Centre d'archives Etopia according to the usual rules of access and in the manner of access as specified in the deposit agreement archives.

This globally means that the entire archive, excepted for already public record which can be directly consulted, is subject to the 30-year rule, that is to say that the records can be accessed only after 30 years their date.

Exceptions to this rule are sometimes possible, but only with prior written permission obtained from the EGP Secretary General, via the archivist in charge of the archives of Etopia center.

Note also that the deposit agreement also provides that the records are or will be accessible only subject to the law on the protection of privacy and personal data in characters.

The archive is available on site.

Languages

This inventory has been written both in English, the language generally used between EFGP members, and in French, archivist's mother tongue and the language usually used at Etopia Archives centre.

Most of files contain documents written in English but also very numerous documents written in EFGP and EGP Members language as well as in Observer parties language and in language of various parties and movements from all around the world having had relationship with European Greens. They can thus find in these archives documents in French, English, German, Dutch, Spanish, Italian, Irish, Swedish, Norwegian, Danish, Finnish, Greek, Maltese, Luxembourg, Roman, Hungarian, Latvian, Georgian, Catalan, Slovak, Slovenian... or also in Chinese and in Japanese.

All documents written in English have been usually kept in this form while documents written in all other languages have been mentioned most of the time in original language with translation given, if possible, in brackets.

Documents written in other alphabets, as Cyrillic, Greek or Chinese, have not been mentioned in original language, they only have been given in English if some translation has been found on.

▪ ADDITIONAL SOURCES

First step: check the archives for the Coordination preserved to this day at the University of Teesside in England.

See also archives of very different European Green party, especially here, in Belgium, archives of the Ecological Party, kept by Etopia Archives Center.

See also posters of the European Greens in Etopia posters collection, made of posters coming from Ecolo press Service, posters collected by Pierre Vanieuwenhoven, Suzanne Godart-Moons or André Drouart.

And finally, see also archives of the Secrétariat fédéral Ecolo (HENDRICK Annette, BRION René, Fonds d'archives du Secrétariat fédéral Ecolo (1977-2012). Inventaire, Avril 2012, 98 p.) which Researcher will find here some very interesting documents about the first Greens organization on a European scale. Files conserved in Etopia Archives Center concern especially Coordination's regular sessions, "Co-Sec" – Coordination Secretary – meetings and its Standing Committee meetings, mostly from 1989 to 1994.

However, most of the European Green Coordination archives are still in Teesside University, as explained before in the GDF and researcher needs going up there to study the 10 first years of European Greens cooperation.

* Le Parti écologiste-démocrate (Ökologisch-Demokratische Partei, ÖDP ou OeDP) est un parti politique centriste et écologiste allemand fondé en 1982 par des dissidents des Verts. L'ÖDP présente un programme politique original, très proche des Verts sur les questions environnementales mais beaucoup plus modéré sur d'autres questions, telles que l'immigration, les droits des minorités, et même conservateur sur l'euthanasie, l'avortement, la peine de mort... Petit parti, l'ÖDP n'a jamais atteint le seuil des 5 % des voix lors d'un scrutin fédéral ou régional, mais il détient quelques positions électorales non négligeables dans le sud de l'Allemagne, essentiellement en Bavière. «Les Jeunes écologistes» constitue son organisation de jeunesse.

II. PARTY BODIES

There were three bodies in the Federation. The Congress, which convened every three years, gathering 400 delegates, decided upon the program and general politic outlines as well as changes of the constitutional statutes. The Council, which met twice a year, with around 50 delegates, coordinated policy initiatives, prepared Congress conventions, approved new members, approved the budget of the Federation... The Committee was the executive body of the Federation; it consisted of 9 persons elected in the Council for a three-year period.

A. EFGP Congress/EGP Congress

The Congress consists of 400 delegates allocated proportionally, though the first Congress is likely to be limited to 200 delegates. All member parties get at least four delegates. Half of the remaining mandates are divided according to absolute number of votes gained in the last general election, the other half according to percentage won in the latest nation-wide election. This system favours not only parties in large countries but also successful parties in small countries.

B. EFGP Council/EGP Council

The Council convenes twice a year. It coordinates policy initiatives, prepares Congress conventions, approves new members, approves the budget of the Federation, elects and evaluates the activities of the Committee

Council gathers approximately 50 delegates. Each member parties has at least one delegate in the Council. Though additional delegates are allocated rewarding large membership, over 5% share of the vote in the latest general election, or a large amount of votes gained, the statutes ensure the small parties and small countries get representation exceeding their relative weight.

Council's files begin in 1994, with the Federation foundation.

Most of Council Meeting files include the following documents, in support of the usual meeting activities: participants list, approval of the last meeting minutes, minutes of the current Council meeting, draft calendar of the EFGP, allocation of the Council seats, registration of the Council Members, presentation by host party, UE Intergovernmental Conference preparation (reports and proposals of the Committee), overviews or reports on European, national, regional and local elections in members countries, numerous reports of working groups, documents on Congress preparation, discussion and voting on Member- and Observership applications with application forms, reports on the visits of the Committee, and some documentation about those parties (as Party profiles*), press-releases, press review, documents about EFGP specific campaigns (against nuclear power for instance), financials documents (balance and report on Treasury, further budget, fees), correspondence with EFGP Members, agendas and reports of the fringe meetings from instances and working groups held during the Council Meeting (e.g. Mediterranean Greens, Green Global Network, Green East-West Dialogue...) with draft resolution on different matters, reports from The Greens at The European Parliament, strategic notes, statutes and amendments for statutes change, some reports from the Secretary-General; with punctually: documents about Secretary-General election (candidates applications, electoral process and nomination), Executive Committee election, and any sorts of problems of current events.

Council meetings files description given below does not mention all those usual documents but tries rather to identify main topics of the programme and documents especially debated during those meetings.

C. Baltic Sea Network

«The idea of building up a Green network in the Baltic Sea Area is a very old one. After a true inflation of conferences in the early 90’s it became very clear, that we need a structure for a continuous work in form of a network. On our first Green conference in Kiel in May 1992 we agreed in our final resolution on building a network as it was proposed by a NGO conference in Pernü 1992. They called it an “umbrella organisation” because it has one central office and many information links to at least one continuous working person in every country in the Baltic Sea Area.” (21 October 1997, in a letter signed by Stefan Hansen (in Kiel), n°413)

E. Mediterranean Network (MED)

« The Mediterranean Network of the EFGP was born in 1995 in the wake of the setting-up of the “Euro-Med” dialogue by the EU. The first activity of the Mediterranean Network, held in Barcelona in November 1995, immediately identified in the Mediterranean basin three main issues related to environmental problems, cultural exchanges and stability and security.

Following this first meeting, the “MED”, whose first coordinators were Heindi Meinzolt-Depner and Arnold Cassola, has had regular twice yearly meetings in conjunction with the EFGP Council meetings, and other seminars and conferences on specific topics of environmental, social or political nature.

The second specific MED Network meeting was held in Ibiza in October 1996. The topic tackled was an environmental one, i.e. the problems caused by mass tourism in the Mediterranean. The Ibiza meeting came up with the “Ten green commandments for a sustainable model of tourism in the Mediterranean”.

In 1997, the specific topic was biodiversity. This seminar was held in Coimbra, Portugal and brought together politicians, biologists, sociologists and environmentalists from European Mediterranean and Tunisia.

In 1998, the MED was structured on a more solid basis. Apart from the usual twice yearly meetings in conjunction with the EFGP Council meetings, a Green Round Table on the “Cyprus Issue” was held in the EP with the participation of all parts involved, the EFGP and the GGEP. A document with the “Green Proposals on the EU enlargement in the Mediterranean” was produced.

A second International seminar, this time on “Migration in the Mediterranean” was held in Bari, Italy, in June 1998. The meeting produced the “Bari Charter on Migration in the Mediterranean”. This charter later served as a basis for the resolution on Migration adopted by the EFGP Council.

A third meeting of the MED Network, held in Narbonne, France, in November 1998 on “Water in the Mediterranean Basin”, produced the “Green paper on the Water in the Mediterranean Basin”.

* As a signal of their cooperation and unity, and as a basis for pushing forward their common Green agenda on the European level, every five years the EGP's member parties from within the European Union join forces to draft and adopt a common manifesto.

The process involves a Working Group, comprised of delegates from EGP Member Parties from the EU, and an Editorial Group consisting of a smaller number of participants – the Editorial Group prepares drafts for discussion by the Working Group. Both groups meet on a regular basis, and information flows constantly in both directions. Further on in the process, at an advanced drafting phase, the manifesto is presented to the EGP Council. Afterwards, it is voted on and adopted by an EGP Electoral Congress.

B. World Coordination / The Global Green Network

“The Earth Summit in Rio in June 1992 was an opportunity to bring the 1st Congress of Global Green. At the initiative of Brazil, this first meeting reflected a part of the growth of Green parties in many countries where they did not exist before, and also the need to organize. From Rio, a Steering Committee was formed, spontaneously, and had the merit of laying the groundwork for the future structure. This committee consisted of two representatives (M/F) by continent, except America divided into two parts: North and South. With financial assistance from GVPE, the Steering Committee has met twice since Rio in January 1993 in Mexico and then in January 1994 in Vienna at the last Council meeting. (The request for financial support did not get a positive vote)

At the Steering Committee Meeting in Mexico, it was expected that a second planetary Greens Congress held in Niamey (Niger). But it postponed to a later date due lacking of financial support (...)” (From a note of European Greens on “Green parties. The international situation », presented to the Council of Budapest 9 to 11 June 1995)

A new aim is given in February 1999: “to form a global network of Green Parties, backed by en charter and manifesto/action plan for the new millennium, at the Global Greens meeting in Canberra, Australia at Easter 2001”. (See n°551). The Global Greens were indeed established in April 2001 when 800 Greens from 70 Green parties all over the world met in Canberra. The gathering approved a Global Green Charter and the setting up of a Global Green Coordination. At the beginnings, this network gathers or takes in contact representatives of around 65 Green parties in North and South America, Europe, Australia and New-Zeeland, Asia and Africa. At the Buenos Aires Climate Conference 3-12 November 1998, they endorsed a "Global Green Statement on Climate Change"; this one had been handed to the Kyoto Conference negotiators a few weeks later.

INVENTORY OF AUDIOVISUAL DOCUMENTS

This part of EGP inventory concerns records made by European Greens Coordination, Federation and European Green Party since their first meetings. There are mainly Council meetings and Congresses records. However, those items were not precisely described: description would have required listening to them first but, to avoid any risk of deleting them, they will be digitized before being described. This following succinct description should nevertheless permit researchers to make their mind about what exists in this matter.

There are 191 usual audio tapes of 60 or 90 minutes, 9 mini tapes and 2 sound recording tapes (bandes). Given the provisional aspect of this treatment, these items have not been renumbered; tapes numerotation only used to give provisional identification.
